

The Peer Power Foundation is proud to announce a dramatic breakthrough in inner city public high school education:

- Our flagship school, Whitehaven High School (a major inner city school with 1950 students), had the highest graduation rate and showed the most improvement in academic performance of all Shelby County public high schools in 2017.
- This success was made possible through an unprecedented partnership (Peer Power II) between the Shelby County School System, the University of Memphis and The Peer Power Foundation.
- For further information on the 12-year history of the development of the Peer Power process of paid collegiate tutoring in inner city public high school classrooms, and how and why it works, please visit www.peerpowerfoundation.org and/or contact
